PULPIT MINISTER - RAY REYNOLDS

A LIFE OF OVERFLOW: ALWAYS READY TO GIVE

Matthew 25:34-36 says, "Then the King will say to those on His right hand, 'Come, you blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; I was a stranger and you took Me in; I was naked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; I was in prison and you came to Me.'" To understand the weight of this lifestyle, we have to look at the words of Jesus carefully. Its about cultivating a life of overflow and being ready to give. God does not call us to live on the edge of exhaustion and depletion. He calls us to live out of an overflow. This isn't about waiting until you feel completely satisfied or wealthy before you give; it is about intentionally structuring your life, your time, and your budget so you are always ready to step up when a crisis hits.

In this parable the King separates the sheep from the goats. The defining characteristic of the righteous isn't their theology or church attendance—it is their tangible, immediate readiness to serve the hurting. One thing that always shocked me about the story is that the righteous are surprised. They ask, "Lord, when did we see You hungry, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison?" The King answers them beautifully in verse 40: "Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me."

This passage outlines six specific categories of human suffering that Jesus explicitly identifies with. If we want to live a life of overflow, these six areas should form our framework for ministry:

- 1. The Hungry: Providing nourishing food.
- 2. The Thirsty: Offering clean, life-giving water or basic necessities.
- 3. The Stranger: Exhibiting radical hospitality to those who don't fit in or have no home.
- 4. The Naked: Providing clothing, dignity, and basic physical shelter.
- 5. The Sick: Offering physical care, emotional comfort, and medical support.
- 6. The Prisoner: Visiting, advocating for, and bringing hope to those who are isolated or incarcerated.

If we are completely maxed out in our daily routines, we will walk right past these six opportunities. Cultivating an overflow means intentionally creating space in three core areas: your life, your time, and your budget. Living a life of overflow begins with your domestic and mental space. If your home is a locked fortress and your emotional energy is entirely spent on yourself, you cannot welcome the stranger or clothe the naked.

Structuring your life for overflow means building a culture of availability. It means knowing your neighbors, keeping extra food in your pantry, and keeping a closet of warm clothes or supplies ready to donate. It means keeping your home clean enough to welcome an unexpected guest, but messy enough to let them feel comfortable. When you view your home and your possessions not as personal property, but as resources on loan from God, you shift from a mindset of scarcity to a mindset of stewardship.
